GENEROUS CONTRIBUTIONS.

Business Men of Connellsville Came Up Handsomely for the Firemen's Convention.

COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL EXTEND THEIR THANKS.

Visiting Firemen Conducted Themselves in Gentlemanly Manner, There Being Very Few Exceptions, and Not a Single Flirtatious Encounter on Streets.

The contributions to the firemen's fund which insured the success of the convention just ended were very liberal. The firemen were late getting a start and they did not meet with as much success at their start as they expected. At the last meeting of Town Council a committee of Councilmen was appointed to take up the work of securing funds in conjunction with the firemen. On this committee were William McCormick, N. Hoye, W. L. Buttermore, James B. Marietta and Jas. Stouffer. They met with generous response on all sides and they expressed a desire this morning to thank the merchants, business men and others of Connellsville who so readily responded to the call for financial help.

The last of the firemen will get away today. The people of Connellsville were only surprised in one way at their gathering here. Their conduct was most commendable. The exception was rare where the visiting firemen acted in any way but as gentlemen on the streets or about the hotels of town. There was not a real flit encounter on the streets or in the hotel bars of Connellsville during the convention. There was a deal of good-natured fun, but it seldom bordered on the rough or horse play variety. Judging the firemen by their conduct while in Connellsville they have been maligned and misrepresented at some of the other convention towns in recent years.

UNCLE SAM—That gum shoe makes enough noise to call the whole country's attention to it.

MERCHANTS' OUTING.

Arrangements for the Big Picnic Made at Enthusiastic Meeting.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED.

To Look After the Arrangements and Amusements of the Day—Outing at Alleghippa Promises to Be a Very Enjoyable Occasion.

An enthusiastic meeting of merchants and business men was held last evening in the Council Chamber for the purpose of making arrangements for the Merchants' Day picnic, which will be held at Alleghippa Park, August 25th. J. M. Doyle was elected chairman, W. R. Scott, secretary, and J. R. Davidson, treasurer.

Chairman Doyle appointed the following committee on amusements: J. R. Davidson, Robt. Norris, A. W. Bishop, John Irwin, W. R. Scott, H. O. Kearney, A. S. Silcox, J. M. Young, Paul Beighley, Henry Rhodes, R. C. Dunn, Clarence Johnson, S. B. Siskel-Smith, and Ralph Porter.

Advertising committee: W. D. McGinnis, H. P. Snyder and J. C. Begley. W. J. Snyder and J. R. Davidson were appointed a committee to call on the school directors and arrange for the closing of the public schools on August 25th, the day of the picnic.

Invitations were ordered extended to bankers, druggists, and all business men who will be unable to close their places of business on that day. Invitations will also be sent to the merchants and business men of Dawson, Dickerson Run and Vanderbilt to join in the picnic.

Arrangements were made to take the Connellsville Military band on the trip. The committee on sports will get up a match game of base ball between the merchants and business men and other sports. A special train will be run over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and will leave the New Haven depot at 7 a. m., and returning home will leave Alleghippa Park at 8 o'clock.

The following reception committee was appointed: Burgess C. W. Patterson, McClain Crossland, Harry Marietta, Wm. Dull, Q. Marietta, L. P. Schultz, J. W. Turner, C. Rusb, J. L. Evans, J. K. Walker, S. R. Mason, J. W. McClanahan, J. R. Beatty, S. R. Goldsmith, J. Kinsbury, M. H. Levinson, C. A. Port, Louis Rutenburg, E. G. Hall, Geo. Porter, A. B. Kurtz, J. W. Ward, H. H. Howard, Dr. H. F. Back From Canada. Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Norton of Patterson avenue returned home Friday evening from a three weeks' visit in Canada.

RUSSIAN LOSS GREAT

In Recent Naval Engagement With the Japanese.

Tokio, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Admiral Togo reports that the Russian battleship Pobieda lost two masts and one gun was disabled in the late engagement with the Japanese squadron. The battleship is badly damaged and the Bayan is missing. The damages to the Japanese fleet have been temporarily repaired.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The death of Admiral Witthof on the Cesarvitch is confirmed. He had both legs blown off by a shell and died soon afterward. The damaged vessels are now at Kichow. The casualties are put at 210 officers and men killed and 60 wounded.

CAPT. CROW HONORED.

Made 3rd Vice President of Society of Officers of the National Society of the Army of the Philippines. The death of Admiral Witthof on the Cesarvitch is confirmed. He had both legs blown off by a shell and died soon afterward. The damaged vessels are now at Kichow. The casualties are put at 210 officers and men killed and 60 wounded.

This is a distinct honor for Captain H. A. Crow of Connellsville, who commanded Company D through part of the campaign in the Philippines. During all of the campaign, both against the Spaniards and Filipinos, he was an officer. Two years ago Captain Crow was made a Vice President in the Society and this is his third promotion. He is now the only eastern National officer. Three of the Vice Presidents of last year were dropped, Capt. Crow being the only other one elected this year. The honor this year came unsolicited upon Captain Crow's part, he not being present at the convention. However, he greatly appreciates the honor conferred upon him.

HERE'S A GOOD TIME.

All Roads Will Lead to Juniataville Tonight and Tomorrow. The most brilliant Slavish wedding of the season occurred today at the big church in New Haven. Rev. E. B. Gellhoff united a winsome young couple from Juniataville, and tonight, Sunday, Monday and probably all next week will be lively out the Juniataville way.

Eight hundred big round dollars is the sum the groom spent for refreshments, solid and liquid. An officer of the peace will be on guard during the festivities, and a good time is expected.

First Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Young celebrated their first wedding anniversary at their home on Green street Friday evening. It was also a reunion of the I. X. L. I. Club. There were four tables of euchre and three prizes. The ladies' head prize was won by Miss Betty Maus, field of Baltimore and the gentlemen's head prize was captured by B. B. Purinton. The consolation prize was won by Mrs. Gould Hyatt. The card tables were in use until 12 o'clock, when a dainty luncheon was served.

A Historical Map.

A special historical map of the State of Pennsylvania has been placed in the reading room of the Carnegie Free Library. The map is six feet two inches by four feet eight inches.

Had Peep on the Firemen.

Clint Gormell proprietor of the Copier House at Mt. Pleasant, was in Connellsville, Thursday night and Friday. He came over to take a peep on the firemen's convention.

TOURNAMENT RACES OF THE FIREMEN DREW A BIG CROWD.

Turtle Creek Won Service Contest, McKees Rocks the Hub and Hub Race Although There Was Some Dissatisfaction Over Award of the Judges.

Four thousand people saw the firemen's tournament on Seventh street, New Haven, Friday. The street, which is especially adapted for race work, was nicely graded down and rolled, and the track was said to be a very fast one. There was a slight down grade, however, which is not allowed on regulation tracks. The preparations for the races were started at 9 o'clock in the morning, but it was not until noon before a start was made. There was considerable talk about the race, about what horse and jockey should be used. A compromise was finally made on New Haven horse and a Donora nuzzle. The first run of the horse race, by the North Braddock team, was made before noon. They made the run and couplings in 21 seconds. East Pittsburgh ran unusually after noon. Their time was 25.25 seconds. The East Pittsburgh boys had hard luck in this race. Andy Perge of the team fell and Nell Hunter fell over him. Had this not occurred, it is possible that East Pittsburgh would have made several seconds' better time. Turtle Creek, in the prettiest run of the day, came in in 27 seconds. McKees Rocks made 29.4. This gave the race to Turtle Creek, with a margin of 2.4 seconds. The judges, however, gave the trophy to McKees Rocks, their mark being 29.4. The service race was won by John Musser, M. B. Pryce, George Whor, and C. F. Engle. Several substitutions were made in the judges during the day.

On account of a bad start and a worse misunderstanding, the hub and hub race for which great things were expected, was not successful. McKees Rocks and Turtle Creek was the first run. The start had a bad place. He snatched a several times, and then called "fire." At that both teams went away and McKees Rocks won by a small margin. Turtle Creek objected to this on account of the fact that no pistol had been fired. Considerable had feeling resulted from this incident. The time was announced at 22.4 seconds for the winner. On this account, Charles and Donora refused to run, and the race was called off. The local committee refused to award the loving cup offered by Jeweler A. B. Kuruz, so the trophy remains in Connellsville.

McKees Rocks made the run in 29.4 seconds. East Pittsburgh was allowed to be a half turn short at the plug connection for time was set back one-fifth of a second. McKees Rocks' first action was also objected to by all the contrasting teams. The truck and novice races were not run on account of the late hour. The prize money for the ladder truck race was evenly divided.

THE DIZZY WHIRL

Of the Ferris Wheel Too Much for Springfield Twp. Man.

SO HE TOPPLED FROM HIS SEAT.

Ontiople Woman Falls Off the Merry-Go-Round and Is at Hospital—Courier Newsboy Loses Leg at Dunbar.

Miss Ada Matthew of Ontiople was injured while riding on a merry-go-round near City Hall Friday night. One of her feet, dangling from the platform, was caught by the machinery and badly crushed. She was taken to the Cottage State Hospital, but will be removed to her home in a few days. A well known farmer of Springfield township also fell out of the Ferris wheel, but his seat was not up high at the time and he was not hurt. He said the darned thing made him so dizzy he couldn't see or sit up straight.

Patrick Nells, an 11-year-old boy who sells Daily Couriers at Dunbar, fell under the wheels of a freight train at McGee's crossing near Dunbar last night. His right leg was crushed off three inches below the thigh. Dr. Brown Colley attended him, and he was brought to the Cottage State Hospital on a Pittsburgh. McKeesport & Connellsville car. At the hospital the leg was amputated. Today the boy is resting nicely. He is one of nine children of Mrs. Mary Nells, a widow of Dunbar.

Married at Cumberland.

Ira Claybaugh of Brownsville and Pearl Brown of Uniontown, Dorsey Wadsworth, Southwood, and Cora Crumwall, Farmington, were married at Cumberland, Md.

Was False Alarm.

A false alarm of fire stirred the whole town this morning.

Will Hold Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the school board will be held this evening.

TRIED TO KILL HUSBAND.

A Young Lemont Foreign Woman Sift Galajda's Threat.

Anna Galajda, aged 17, tried to kill her husband, George Galajda, about 10 o'clock Thursday night at their home in Lemont. She cut his throat with a razor and it was a very close shave for the man. She was arrested by the police and is now in jail. She was charged with attempted murder.

COLBORN HYATT DEAD.

Popular and Promising Young Man Expired This Morning. Thelma Colborn Hyatt died this morning at 4 o'clock at his home, No. 110, South Prospect street, after a nine days' illness of typhoid fever.

Deceased was the son of Health Officer and Mrs. Allen Hyatt and was born and reared in Connellsville. He had been employed as a ganger in the United States revenue service for the past two years, being located at Ford City for the past two months. He is survived by his parents and three sisters, Mrs. Harry Marietta and Misses Edith and Cora Hyatt. Deceased was a popular and promising young man and his family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

John Miller in Town.

John B. Miller was here Thursday and Friday from Latrobe, where he is one of that town's prominent business men and citizens. Mr. Miller is a former register and recorder of Fayette county and at one time was manager of the Western Union telegraph office here.

SI LUNG'S TROUBLES.

Met More Than His Match in Buxom Dunbar Girl.

SHE KNOCKED THE CHINK OUT.

For Making a Three-Base Hit at Her With a Come-Back Ball—Big Crowd Enjoyed the Fun.

The contagion of throwing "come-back balls" wielding "wife beaters" and throwing rice and confetti invaded Chinatown last night. Si Lung, a hunchman in a West Main street establishment was the first chink to catch the fever. He purchased a "come back ball" with a long rubber attached and watched for a victim. The first one to pass was a siren-looking dame from Dunbar. She passed the laundry and Si Lung shot his ball for a good, safe hit.

Not satisfied with that, he sallied out in his shuffling slippers and followed the girl down Main street. At Arch street she turned on him, and picking up a stout wooden paddle, warmed him up severely. In front of the laundry the fight occurred, and a hundred people who had hastily gathered around saw Si take a back-somersault through the widow of his home. His fellow iron-punchers swept up the broken glass and the place was closed up. Si Lung has great respect now for the American Girl's prowess.

Gas Main Blew Up.

Waynesburg, Aug. 12.—The county bridge which spans Hoover's run at Kent's Mills, Greene county, was destroyed Thursday. At this point a compressing station is being erected by the Peoples Natural Gas Company and there is a junction of several gas lines. In testing the 20-inch main which carries the gas supply to Pittsburgh, the pipe exploded with a force equal to nitro glycerine, blowing the bridge to pieces and shaking the earth and buildings for miles around where the accident happened.

PROMISE OF COMPETITION.

Application Will Be Made to Town Council for New Natural Gas Company Franchise.

ONE IS ALSO TO BE MADE IN UNIONTOWN.

The Supply Will Come From Greene County and the Southern Portion of Fayette to Compete With Present Monopolizing Company in This District.

An independent natural gas company is negotiating for franchises in the boroughs of Connellsville and Uniontown. At the coming meeting of Town Council in Uniontown application is to be made for a franchise, granting the rights and privileges to pipe natural gas through the streets and to supply it to consumers in the County Seat. A similar application is to be made to the Town Council of Connellsville. This application may not be made at the coming meeting of Council on Tuesday evening next, but it likely will be in September.

The company's representative is now in Uniontown and has also looked the situation over in Connellsville. He says the company, which is composed of Pittsburg and Western Capital, sees a good thing in a competing line in Fayette county, and especially in the towns of Connellsville, Uniontown, Scottdale and Mt. Pleasant. They will have a bountiful supply of natural gas, they say, coming from Greene and Washington county wells. This supply, they claim, they already have. All the natural gas supply for patrons in Connellsville and Uniontown is now controlled by the Fayette County Natural Gas Company. Lately they have been inclined to put the screws on patrons in more ways than one and there has been considerable comment. An independent company would be welcomed because it would insure cheaper gas and better service all around.

MT. PLEASANT INSTITUTE.

A Boys' Building to Be Erected at a Cost of $60,000.

The new boys' building to be erected in connection with the Mt. Pleasant institute will cost $60,000. The board of trustees has placed John A. Murphy and William S. Power, of Pittsburg, and Principal H. C. Dixon and C. E. Mullin of Mt. Pleasant in charge of the enterprise. The gentlemen have had plans prepared and have appointed as financial secretary, the Rev. Henry Madtes, of Sharpsburg, who is increasing the amount already subscribed by the citizens of Mt. Pleasant, the board of trustees and friends of the school.

The proposed new building is similar in design to Rockefeller Hall at Vassar college. It will have 66 rooms for resident students and teachers, besides an assembly hall, library, laboratory, art, music and recitation rooms. In the basement will be a dining hall and a gymnasium equipped with shower baths. It will be one of the finest academy buildings in the State. While raising funds for this purpose it is intended to purchase additional ground for an athletic field and to increase the school's endowment fund. The school now has an endowment fund of $40,000, owns two buildings and four acres of ground, a total property value of about $80,000. The old boys' building, about to be replaced, has an interesting history. It was built about sixty years ago and served as a college building for the United Brethren and Reformed denominations until the early 70's, when the Baptists purchased the property and have since occupied it as a preparatory school. Nearly every college, technical and professional school in the country have received recruits from Mt. Pleasant.

OBJECT TO PAYMENT.

Of Claim for Insurance to a Footed Insurance Man.

The Mercantile Fire & Marine Insurance Company of Boston, through Fred W. Kieffer, their agent and adjuster of claims, has filed an affidavit of defense to the suit brought against them by Nathan Holtzer of Footedale, to recover $1,000, the amount of a policy which he held on his store, which was burned last December. The company deny that they owe him anything. One clause in the policy says that when a fire has occurred the claimant must make out a list of the goods destroyed together with the value of same and return this to the home office along with the proper affidavit, within 60 days from the date of the fire.

This Holtzer failed to do, they claim, and because he thus violated the agreement as contained in the policy he is not, under the law, entitled to anything.

WAS CHURCH MEMBER.

Arthur E. Smith Prominent in Big Bethel Congregation.

The sudden disappearance of Arthur E. Smith, who passed the $3,800 forged check at Brownsville, has brought about considerable comment by those who knew him at Uniontown. Smith was one of the leading members of the Big Bethel Baptist Church, as is also John S. Douglas, whose name he forged to the check. While Smith's business methods were questioned by many people of Uniontown who knew him best, everybody seemed to be surprised that he would attempt such a foolhardy trick as that with which he is now charged. The officers are doing everything to apprehend him and if caught he will likely be given what he would seem to deserve.

Chimney Fire.

An alarm of fire was sounded from plug 37 this morning for a small blaze on the roof of the residence of C. F. Mitchell on Fayette street. The damage was very slight. The property is owned by Michael Hurley.

THEY WANT DAMAGES

Litigation Against Franklin Twp. Water Co. Over Building Reservoir

NEAR THE TOWN OF SMOCK.

Award of the Viewers in the Case Made Some Time Ago Were Not Accepted by the Plaintiffs in the Case.

Attorney Davis W. Henderson filed a statement this afternoon Friday afternoon in each of the two cases brought against the Franklin Township Water Company some time ago by Sarah E. Colley, widow of Aaron T. Colley, deceased, Jessie A. Galloway and J. Rose Colley, a minor, with Frank E. Roderick, his guardian. These are actions to recover damages for the erection of a large reservoir on the lands of the plaintiffs some distance from Smock station and the subsequent laying of a pipe line across the same property. The plaintiffs claim to be the owners of 102 acres of land which is very valuable and say that it is now greatly damaged. September 16, 1902, the water company laid out and later constructed a reservoir covering about six acres of plaintiffs' land and which they say was well worth $1,500.

No settlement could be effected with the company and on petition to the court for viewers, Leonard Lenhart, Uriah Higinbotham, O. P. Markle, Samuel W. Jones and John D. Ruby were appointed. They went over the ground and after due deliberation awarded the plaintiffs $3,100 for the land taken for the reservoir and $355 for that necessary for the pipe line. The defendant company, through Attorney George D. Howell, appealed from these awards on the ground that they were excessive. In the statement filed Friday, the Colleys claim damages of $7,500 in one case and $750 in the other. James Murphy, a neighbor, has a similar suit with the company for land taken and in this there has also been an appeal from the award of the viewers.

The reservoir of the Franklin Township Water Company is one of the largest in Fayette county and in addition to the six acres on the Colley farm covers several acres of the Murphy farm. The water is piped to the works of the Pittsburg Coal Company at Smock station.

BUYS GUILER OUT.

H. L. Goe of Uniontown Buys Three-Fourths of Guiler Gas Coal Co.

Henry L. Goe, formerly general manager for the Leckrone Coke Company, has purchased a three-fourths interest in the Guiler Gas Coal Company, whose plant is in Westmoreland county on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad about four miles beyond West Newton. The consideration was a large one, but is not given out. The company has 27 acres of the six-foot vein of Youghiogheny second foot gas coal. The mine was opened about two months ago and has an output of from 300 to 400 tons of coal a day. Tipples have been erected and the plant is running regularly and has orders ahead at good prices. Mr. Goe has returned to Uniontown from a trip to Cleveland and Pittsburg. He expects to locate in Pittsburg in the fall and from there direct the affairs of the Guiler Gas Coal Company.

The Guiler Company was owned by John Guiler, J. L. Kendall and W. H. Thomas.

Killed on Railroad.

Lloyd Linn of Roaring Springs was struck by a train at South Fork, Pa., and was dangerously injured.

CROWDS INCREASING.

Attendance at the World's Fair Pleases Exposition Officials.

GREAT DAY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Will Be Held Next Week and the Keystone State Is Expected to Attract a Banner Crowd—Where Some of Our Exhibits Are.

St. Louis, Aug. 12.—The Louisiana Purchase Exposition has in the past weeks assumed the aspect of a real World's Fair more than at any time previously. There was a time when the crowds were so small and, being spread out over so much area, that it was hard to realize that the greatest international exposition ever held was in progress. But that has begun to change and fair officials are in strong hope that from now until the close of the fair the attendance will keep on a constant uprise.

Last week was the largest in point of attendance since the fair opened and on Tuesday, August 2, and Saturday, August 6, the crowds were something immense and cosmopolitan to the extreme. The 2nd instant was Children's Day, little ones being admitted free, and the arrangement proved a great success for the children naturally brought with them their parents and guardians in great numbers. The attendance that day totaled over 135,000. Last Saturday was Manufacturers' Day and was marked with parades, a carnival, a ball masque and a prize contest in which 5,000 prizes were offered. Arrangements for the day were made by a committee of exhibitors from the Manufacturers' and various industrial buildings. A great crowd was attracted and the attendance for the day was 137,167, being exceeded only on Dedication Day and the Fourth of July.

The fine weather has continued and at present is the kind one would order for a pageant of this character and these favorable conditions with the special attractions mentioned have combined to cause a constant increase in attendance which greatly pleases those in administrative control. Last week's total attendance was 601,411 the largest for any week since the exposition was opened.

This week and next promise to also show good attendance, although there are no special events scheduled with the important exception of Pennsylvania Day of Saturday, August 20. The time has come, however, when the people are beginning to come to the fair in earnest, regardless of special days or any other particular reason excepting that it suits them to come.

Hotel patronage is also picking up to the delight of hotel men, but to their credit be it said they have not yet begun to advance rates. For what they may do later I should not like to be responsible, but as regards rates there is this to consider, that of hotel accommodations and furnished rooms for rent there are endless quantities and attendance will have to be three or four times what it is at present to tax their capacity. Rates, therefore, are not likely to advance very much, at least for some time, and until the end of the fair I'll venture to predict that except in especially favored locations persons will be able to secure rooms for $1.00 a day up, according to the nature of the accommodations. Inside the fair there has been and still is a constant increase of restaurants and eating booths and this has tended rather to reduce the cost of meals than to advance them. Meals inside are served now on the American plan from 25 cents to $1.00 and two or three places it is surprising how much one gets for his quarter. The Vermont restaurant is one particularly good place where meals may be procured 25, 30 and 40 cents. The Nebraska is another, an excellent breakfast and lunch being had there for 40 cents and dinner for 50 cents.

Arrangements for Pennsylvania Day are almost completed, but have not been officially announced. That day will be one of general interest and of particular interest to Pennsylvanians is evidenced by the interest being manifested in the plans by the exposition officials and St. Louis people. It will be the first of the Eastern States to celebrate a special day, not including those which had their days towards the beginning of the fair in connection with the dedication of their State buildings.

The members of the Pennsylvania State Commission to the exposition will arrive on a special train Friday, August 19, about 2 P. M. There will be no formal ceremonies that day, the members of the commission, State officials and guests who accompany them going from their special train to the Hotel Jefferson immediately on arrival. They will remain at the Jefferson during their stay in St. Louis.

On Saturday, the 20th, ceremonies connected with the celebration of the day as Pennsylvania's will begin with a parade which will form at the Administration Building at 10 o'clock A. M. From there it will proceed over the principal thoroughfares of the exposition grounds to the Pennsylvania State Building, at which place it will arrive about noon or shortly after. Just what the makeup of the parade will be has not yet been determined in detail, but in it there will be details from all the United States troops quartered on the grounds and probably a good-sized detachment from Jefferson Barracks, the United States military post at St. Louis. There will also be a squad of St. Louis mounted police, Jefferson Guards, native Filipino troops with their bands and other uniformed organizations, all of which will form a guard of honor for Governor Pennypacker, the State Commission, State officials and exposition and St. Louis city officials. An attempt to bring the Philadelphia city troop here did not succeed on account of lack of funds to pay the expenses incident to the trip.

On arrival at the Pennsylvania Building there will be speeches by Governor Pennypacker, President Francis, Mayor Rolla Wells of St. Louis, members of the commission and others. These will take place about 1 o'clock P. M. and for the speeches and during the afternoon of Pennsylvania Day the State Building will be open to the public.

At 8 o'clock P. M. on the 20th a reception and banquet will be given the visiting Pennsylvanians, exposition officials and others, to which admittance will be by invitation card. This reception and banquet will continue until 10 o'clock.

Those who come by the special train will remain in St. Louis from the time of their arrival, August 19, until August 23, then the special will return.

Since the exposition opened the exhibitors from Pennsylvania have been constantly increasing and adding to their exhibits until it taken collectively the State's representation is at present a most complete exposition of the great commonwealth's resources commercially, educationally and otherwise. As a whole the exhibits from Pennsylvania rank in extent and quality with those from any other State in the Union and are ahead of the majority.

To Pennsylvanians who may come to the World's Fair hereafter it may be of interest to know the location of the State Building and the various exhibits from their own State. The building is situated due north of the Inside Inn and not far from Station 14 on the Intramural railway. It is also near the State Building entrance, also known as the southeast entrance. From either the station or the entrance named the Inside Inn is plain sight and to go to the Pennsylvania Building one starts towards the Inn, along Constitution avenue in front of it until the Indiana Building is reached when a turn to the west or left is made, leaving Arkansas on the right. The Pennsylvania is the third building on the right and can be told by its large yellow dome and its great size.

In the Fine Arts buildings Pennsylvania is represented in the painting, sculpture and architectural departments. In the Mines and Metallurgy Building Pennsylvania's principal exhibit occupies all of Block 41, an area of 3,550 square feet. 173 exhibits are being represented here. The State's mining industries are also shown in Blocks 20, 62 and 63 in the Mines Building and in Blocks 10-B, 74-B and 60-B corridor, besides an extensive exhibit in the Mining Gulch, showing an anthracite coal mine in operation. There are individual exhibits of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in Block 52, Mines Building, and of other Pennsylvania manufacturing concerns in other parts of the same building.

In the Transportation Building the Pennsylvania Railroad Company alone has an exhibit covering 30,000 square feet of floor space and all over the building will be found exhibits from or related to the State.

Persons from Connellsville and other Fayette and Westmoreland county towns registered at the Pennsylvania Building during the past week were the following: Connellsville Dr. L. P. McCormick and Alex. B. Hood; Uniontown W. P. Scott and wife, Thomas Howard Rex Howard, Helen Breslin, Phoebe A. Wood, W. V. Detweiler, O. W. Kennedy, H. B. Messmore, J. L. Messmore, L. L. Messmore, E. J. Wilson, Fred C. Keighley, Henry Keighley, Wilson B. Taylor, Josephine Boyd, Mrs. J. D. Boyd, Mrs. L. W. Semans, Edith Semans, Mrs. S. V. Breason of Ligonier, Ind., formerly of Uniontown, accompanied by Miss Helen Beeson here; West Newton, Mrs. Samuel Miller, Miss Leah Miller, Miss Grace Miller, Roy Vanier, W. E. Markle, L. P. Gordon, R. M. Galloway, W. P. Warwick, Belle Vernon, D. B. Blower, R. J. West, Brownsburg, Howard T. Taylor, Greensburg, E. M. Shewachner, W. S. Truney and wife, C. J. McIlveen, W. H. McIlveen, Frank P. Walther, the last named being here as a delegate to the annual convention of the International Typographical Union from the Greensburg union. R. KIRK RICHARDSON

OHIO-PYLE.

Notes from the Little Mountain Resort Up the Yough.

Ohio-Pyle, August 12.—Miss Eva Colborn of Mill Run arrived here yesterday on train No. 16 for a few days' visit with relatives.

Plummer Hall and F. M. Cunningham were business callers in town yesterday.

Miss Phoebe Chick of near Bidwell was shopping in our town yesterday.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a box and ice cream social in the Ranier Park pavilion tonight. Proceeds for benefit of the church. Come girls and bring boxes. Boys bring cash. A feature of the occasion will be a guess pie.

David Collins of near this place one day last week killed three hawks, two ground hogs and five large rattlesnakes, a pretty fair day's kill. Who can beat his record?

A valuable cow belonging to A. A. Corristan tried to dispute the right of the Duquesne Limited passing through our borough yesterday at about 7 P. M. and as a result Mr. Corristan is one cow less. The animal was killed between the B. & O. crossing and the depot being hurled from the west bound track to the middle of the east bound track. The Duquesne Limited immediately came to a standstill while the crew removed the animal from the track. The Duquesne then pursued its way after about a five minute delay.

Evans Rush was transacting business in Dunbar Thursday. He returned home on train No. 10 Thursday evening.

The Yough river was full of bathers yesterday.

Edworth League in Methodist Episcopal Church at 7:30 P. M. Preaching in the Baptist Church by Rev. Rockwell of Dawson at 7:30. Come to all the services.

Read The Daily Courier for all the news of the county, state and nation. The following base ball enthusiasts left here at noon yesterday for the Mitchell farm to witness the base ball game between the Thorpe and Mitchell boarders which was played at the Mitchell farm instead of at this place as stated in yesterday's Courier. Misses Mabel and Nori Rittenour, Sallie Seaton, Anna Dell Millard, Bertin Chubb and the Messrs. Ralph Moon and Abigail Morrison.

Leave your items of interest in care of Postoffice Box No. 93 and they will be gladly received.

CONFLUENCE.

Interesting Items From Somerset County's Hustling Town.

Connellsville, August 12.—Irvin Morrison, who was so seriously injured while loading a tramway truck for the East Brady Lumber Company, is not considered to be fatally injured, and it is very likely that he will have a speedy recovery.

James N. Joliff has been up at Somerset disposing of some of his property in that section. He passed through town today on his way to Markleysburg. His many interests keep him on the road most of the time.

James Franz, deputy sheriff of Garrett county, Md., was seen on the streets today.

Work is progressing on the bridge at Somerset. Two wagons passed through town loaded with derricks, poles and other tools needed in building the abutments of the bridge.

Miss Fanny Wilson of Tab Run is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lydia, of Dean street, and Mr. and Mrs. David Shbaugh of Water street. She expects to return home in a few days.

There are four new residences in Confluence that are nearing completion. They are models of fine architecture, and will do much toward adding to the beauty of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spear and daughter were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Walter Shipley, over night.

The Model Plate Show traveled up the C. & O. today on its way to Friendsville. Two coaches were required to carry their equipment. They will show in Friendsville today and will show in Meyersdale Saturday.

Edward Jeffries, the ex-prisoner, is hauling the state for Norval Crow's residence today.

Mrs. Grant Pyle has been on the sick list for several days.

James Scott of Ureina, who has been quite ill, is improving. Dr. W. S. Mountain is treating the case.

A. S. Hartzell, the electric manufacturer, left Thursday night for a visit with friends in Ashtabula, O.

W. C. Dadds is nicely settled in his new home and wears a more relaxed and cheerful expression than he has for some time. Mr. Dadds' many friends wish him a long and happy stay in his new cottage.

Rev. C. M. Watson, pastor of the Connellsville Christian Church, who is here with the Boys' Brigade in camp is a very genial gentleman.

Dr. W. S. Mountain has received a handsome "Ford" automobile and is enjoying the machine immensely.

The usual services will take place at the Christian Church next Sunday and the Connellsville Boys' Brigade, who are camping near here, will attend these services in uniform in a body. It is said.

ANOTHER GAS FRANCHISE.

Application Is To Be Made of Uniontown Council.

An application for a gas franchise will be made to the Uniontown borough council by Capt. D. D. Moriarty of Pittsburgh, who is stopping at the McClelland House and will examine the local field to learn the prospects for securing a franchise. Capt. Moriarty states that if permitted to run a line into Uniontown he will supply gas at the rate of 15 cents per thousand. He is favorably impressed with the prospects for doing good business here if he can secure the franchise.

Capt. Moriarty is a Civil War veteran and served as Captain of Company of the 1st Pennsylvania regiment, which was recruited in Venango county.

PAID FOR RIGHT OF WAY.

Loyalhanna Coal & Coke Co. Got Considerable Money from B. & O.

A deed was filed in the Recorder's office in Greensburg Thursday showing that on August 1, 1891, the Loyalhanna Coal & Coke Company had conveyed to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company certain land in Derry township for the sum of $1,300.

The land conveyed represents a strip twenty-five feet wide through the property of the coal company, and for a distance of about 1,500 feet. There is less than three acres in the strip conveyed, and it is over property under which the coal has been reserved. It will be seen that the B. & O. paid a good price for the right of way.

COL. PAT. GOING.

Greene County Giant to Attend G. A. R. Convention.

Save Money on These OXFORDS.

You don't always save money on Shoes when you pay less. That's because you get so much less. But these Oxfords offer real savings, because they are worth about half as much again as you are asked to pay for them. All of them are made by MacDonald & Kiley and sold the world over at $5 a pair. We offer the remaining ones at $3.50.

They are in Patent Coll and Russia Calf, made over the popular swing last model. But the name coupled with this little price, tells all.

NOTE:—To avoid disappointment we would suggest immediate inspection as the lot is not large.

Women's Silk Petticoats.

—A Superb Collection Attractively Priced.—

The quality of silk which you'll find in these is far better than you will expect at the prices they bear, then added to the beauty and lustre which comes with a good quality of silk, is the perfection of workmanship and the beauty and originality of the designs. All of them have wide accordin pleated flounces, some edged with plain hemmed ruffel, others having three hem-stitched ruffels, while the more expensive ones are elaborately trimmed in hemstitched designs. We show them in every staple and new Fall shade, so you'll be able to match any costume. We also show many made up in beautiful changeable silks.

A POINTER.

The New York Sun is the acknowledged leading newspaper of this country and its absolute independence has never been questioned. Without doubt it has exercised a potential influence in the politics of the nation. It is certain that the candidates it supports are seldom found on the losing side, and this is so for the sound reason that the candidates and the policies supported by The Sun are usually the right ones.

The Sun has declared in positive terms for Roosevelt and Fairbanks and its reasons, elsewhere stated, are inclusive, forcible and to intelligent persons convincing.

The judgment of The Sun is not always merciful, but it is generally just, and it usually points the way.

THE FIREMEN.

The firemen's convention is over and the boys have departed. They had a good time and the people enjoyed their visit. They were a bit noisy, to be sure, but they didn't disturb anybody.
Their fun was good-natured and was thoroughly enjoyed by everybody but the cranks, and they didn't count.

The boys are to be congratulated on the fact that they were sober and well-behaved. Such drunkenness as was seen was among the spectators, not among the men in uniforms, and no finer and more orderly body of men marched in a parade than did the firemen on Thursday.

Connellville will welcome them back any time they want to visit us again.

THE PASSING OF THE ORATOR.

The announcement that President Roosevelt will make no campaign speeches is not to be taken as notice that he will follow Mister Parker's example and be a Sphinx.

It is simply notice that Chairman Cortelyou and the President are both progressive. They realize that the age of political oratory is past. This is a newspaper age. The newspaper is now the vehicle of political information that was in former times necessarily confined in a larger degree to the stump speaker, there being then infinitely more orators than editors.

The written word is more deliberate than the spoken word and is more deliberately weighed. The newspaper is, therefore, a decided improvement upon the campaign orator, and the sooner
the latter's occupation is declared vacant the better it will be for American politics.

Mexico has meted out prompt justice to the murderers of American citizens. The government of Mexico is friendly to this nation, but among the natives the old intractable Spanish prejudice still exists against the Gringos, at whose hands they have so often and so disastrously met defeat.

Take one on Nicholas!

The diplomats are trying to force China into the Russo-Jap war. China has been suspected of trying to butt in for some time past, and really we don't know any nation that has a better right. Japan's war is only indirectly in her own defense. The aggression she opposes is on Chinese territory, not on her own.

Well brushed skirts, well cleaned shoes, and a trim waist line cost very little.

Mayor Carter Harrison has been asked to settle the meat strike in Chicago. Carter is a good fellow and the labor element always comes to him when it gets in hot water; but even a good fellow and a Mayor cannot always cure the ills of man.

When trade revives in midsummer there is no longer any doubt as to what will happen in the fall, especially after the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

The Czar has been reinforced.

Mister Parker flew above the St.
Louis platform when he sent his famous Goli Standard telegram, but he crawled under it in his speech of acceptance at Esopus. What a fall was there, countrymen!

"The miserable hell-broth of dish-water and dynamite" is what The New York Sun calls the Democratic National Platform. The Sun never lacked for expressive adjectives.

Ripped garments and frayed edges
are fatal to smartness.

It takes a heap of booze to marry a foreign couple. It would be cheaper for the contracting parties, and better for the community if they were married in the American fashion.

A new natural gas company is knocking at our doors. Let the stranger come in. Competition always rouses oppression, and there has been some oppression here recently in the natural gas line.

THE SUN'S POSITION.

Comes Out Flat-Footed for Roosevelt Against Parker.

Judge Parker's ambition got a rude
jolt Thursday when the New York Sun came out flat-footed for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. The Sun during the last few years has been permanently independent in its political attitude, and has been especially bitter toward President Roosevelt. The reasons for its course were various, but chief among them was Mr. Roosevelt's intervention in 1902 to end the anthracite coal strike. For this it has denounced the President with atrocious ferocity. Nor was the "Sun" anything like happy over Mr. Roosevelt's course with the trust question and it has lost no opportunity to "throw it into" the administration with a vigor unparalleled.

But with all its idiosyncrasies, and notwithstanding its capricious and unprincipled management, the Sun is the most ably edited newspaper in the United States. Toward its columns all newspaper men, politicians, scientific men, intelligent business men and men of affairs generally turn for information, enlightenment, critical and authentic discussion. This is why the Sun was the talk of the town today and why during the next week it will be more widely quoted than any other newspaper in the land. The editorial declaring for Roosevelt and Fairbanks
is as follows:

"Two campaigns is now on. Both parties and both candidates have spoken.

"On the one side a conservative party with a radically inclined and established too strenuous candidate for President; and behind him, for the Vice Presidency, a man of undoubted capacity, sound opinions and mental and physical promise of endurance.

"On the other side a radical party,
with an infinite capacity for mischief
and a stupendous record of mischief actually accomplished, presenting for President a conservatively inclined candidate of irreproachable character and attractive personal accomplishments, and for Vice President one whose extreme age is the sole but sufficient reason for apprehension in case of his succession to the Presidency.

"He cannot take Judge Parker on the Republican platform and record.
He cannot reject Mr. Roosevelt without helping to open the gates of power to political forces of unmeasured destructive potentiality. It seems better to maintain unbroken the wall of defense which the first election of Mc-Kinley established.

"Two things might have happened to make the choice of 1904 a choice between individuals rather than between parties, standing on the respective records. Neither of the two things has happened. The first opportunity was deliberately avoided by the compromising tricksters at St. Louis. The second was deliberately thrown away
at Rosemont yesterday.

An Echo of the Convention.

"Daring Judge Parker's got to-gram of 1904, offsetting in some degree his two free silver votes for Bryan in 1896 and 1900, and barring a politic anti-second term pledge which might have been made, perhaps more gracefully in an inaugural address after election, nothing has come from Judge Parker's lips or pen to indicate that he possesses a single political idea marking him as a statesman of independent initiative, of courage superior to the St. Louis brand, of stature to command and lead. With the two exceptions noted he is an echo of the convention, and naught beside he is yet the unknown quantity that he was throughout the preliminary period of silence prescribed by judicial dignity. Instead of rising above the platform Judge Parker has crawled pretty inconspicuously beneath it, in un-reliantly expressed opinion. He himself has decreed that the choice of the independents shall be one of parties and records and principles rather than

of men.

"To state the Sun's position and its reasons thereto requires no metaphysical subtlety of explanation. The main consideration is as broad as the nation's interests. As the case is now made up we prefer the impulsive candidate of the party of conservatism to the mildly conservative, temporizing opportunist representative of the Hun vote in the background.

"We have more faith in the distinct premises of the Chicago platform, not ignoring the many serious defects of that document, than we have in the miserable hell-broth of dishwater and dynamite concocted at St. Louis a month ago by a party afraid to repudiate its criminal follies, and tasted yesterday at Esopus by a respectable candidate who declares with gusto
that its flavor is 'admirable!'

"We shall therefore advocate the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks and advise the defeat of Parker and Davis; preserving our own absolute independence of organic control, and our freedom of judgment as to every specific question occurring. And may the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt's present mood continue, and if he is elected may the discourager of precipitancy stand always at his elbow!"

Not content with declaring its attitude on the ticket the Sun elsewhere in its editorial columns asks: "Are These the Admirable Things?" and then says:

"Are these, perchance, some of the features of the St. Louis platform which Judge Parker so enthusiastically admires?"

"The bold assertion of 'liberty of contract untrammelled by sumptuary laws' when the country was waiting for a declaration of the Democratic party's views on liberty of contract untrammelled by the illegal interference of organized tyranny."

"The unqualified approval of the movement to restrict by enactment, in the interest of conspirators, the powers of the Federal courts in injunctions and punishment of contempt."

"The square denunciation of protection in the language of the old free traders as 'a robbery of the many to enrich the few.'"

"The demand for the surrender of territory now under American sovereignty and the American flag."

Uncle Terry

CHARLES CLARK MUNN

Copyright, 1900, by LEE & SHERARD

CHAPTER XXIV.

IN the morning Albert followed Uncle Terry around the circuit of his lobster traps in the Gypsy's harbor, with Terry as a companion, and watched the old man hauling and rebaiting those elongated coops and taking out his prizes. The day was a perfect one, the sea just ruffled by a light breeze, and as her first tidiness had now worn away, he found Terry a most charming companion. It was an entirely new experience to him, and the four hours' pull in and out of the island coves and around isolated ledges where Uncle Terry set his traps passed all too quickly.

"Do you know," said Albert when they had returned to the little cove where Uncle Terry kept his boats and as he sat watching him pick up his morning's catch and toss them one by one into a large car, "that the first man who thought of eating a lobster must have been almost starved? Of all creatures that grow in the sea there is none more hideous, and only a hungry savage could have thought them fit for food."

"They ain't overhaushen," replied Uncle Terry, "but fried in pork fat they go middin' good if ye're hungry."

That afternoon Terry invited Albert to row her up to a cove, at the head of which was a narrow valley where blueberries grew in profusion. "I want to pick a few," she said, "and you can make a sketch of the cove while I do."

Helping her pick berries proved a more attractive and when her pull was full Albert made a picture of her sitting in front of a pretty cluster of small spruce trees, with the pull beside her and her sun hat trimmed with ferns.

"Your city friends will laugh at the country girl you found down in Maine," she remarked as she looked at the sketch, "but as they will never see me, I don't care."

"My friends will never see it," he answered quietly, "only my sister. And I am going to bring her down here next summer."

"Tell me about her," said Terry at once. "Is she pretty?"

"I think so," replied Albert. "She has eyes like yours, only her hair is not so light. She is a little little body and has a mouth that makes one want to kiss her."

"I should like to see her ever so much," responded Terry, and then she added rather sadly, "I've never had a girl friend in my life. There are only a few at the Cape of my age, and I don't see much of them. I don't mind it in the summer, for then I work on my pictures, but in winter it is so lonesome. For days I do not see any one except father and mother or old Mrs. Leach."

"And who is Mrs. Leach?"

"Oh, she's a poor old soul who lives alone and works on the fish racks. She is worse off than I am."

It was a little glimpse into the girl's life that interested Albert, and in the light of what he knew of her history, a pathetic one. Truly she was alone in the world, except for the two kindly souls who made a home for her.

"You will go away tomorrow, I suppose," she said with a faint tone of regret as they were rowing home.

"Father said your boat was coming after you today."

He looked at her a moment, while a slight smile showed beneath his mustache. "I suppose I shall have to," he answered, "but I should like to stay here a month. I've not made a sketch of your house, even."

"I wish you would," she said with charming candor, "it is so lonesome here, and then maybe you would show me a little about painting."

"Could you endure my company every day for a month?" he asked, looking her full in the face.

"I don't believe you could endure ours," she replied, dropping her eyes, and then she added quickly: "There is a prayer meeting tonight at the Cape. Would you like to go?"

"Most certainly," he answered.

Albert had expected to see the Gypsy in the harbor when they returned that afternoon, but was happily disappointed. "I hope they will stay at Bar Harbor a week," he thought.

That evening when Terry appeared, ready to be escorted to the prayer meeting, he was certain that no fairer girl was to be found anywhere.

She was dressed in simple white, her masses of sunny hair half concealed by a thin blue affair of loosely knitted wool and had a cluster of wild roses at her throat. It was a new and pleasant experience to be walking beside a well-dressed young man whose very look and word bespoke enjoyment of her society, and she showed it in her simple, unaffected way.

That evening's gathering was a unique one in Albert's experience and the religious observances such as he never forgot. The place was a little square, unpainted building, and when Terry and he entered and seated themselves on one of the wooden benches that stood in rows not over a dozen people were there. On a small platform in front was a cottage organ and beside it a small desk. A few more entered after they did, and then a florid faced man arose and, followed by a short and stout young lady, walked forward to the platform. The girl seated herself at the organ, and the man, after turning up the lamp on the organ, opened the book of psalm hymns and said in a sweet tone, "We will now commence our service by singing the forty-third Psalm, and all are requested to rise at this time." In the center of the room hung a large lamp, and two men in brackets at the side shed a weak light on the gathering, but no one seemed to feel it necessary to look to the Forty-third selection.

Albert and Terry arose with the rest, and the girl at the organ began to chase the slow tune up and down the key. Then the red faced man started the singing, a little below the key, and the congregation followed. Terry's voice, clear and distinct, joined with the rest. A long prayer, full of halting repetitions, by the man at the desk followed, and then another hymn, and after that came a painful pause. To Albert's mind it was becoming serious, and he began to wonder how it would end, when there ensued one of the most weird and yet pathetic prayers he had ever listened to. It was uttered by an old lady, tall, gaunt and white haired, who arose from the end of a seat close to the wall and beneath one of the smoke dimmed lamps. It could not be classed as a prayer exactly, for when she began her utterance she looked around as if to find sympathy in the assembled faces, and her deep set, piercing eyes seemed almost to pierce the soul of each one who looked at her. At first she clasped the back of the nettes in front with her long, restless fingers, and then later clasped and finally raised them above her upturned face, while her body swayed with the vehemence of her feelings. Her garb, too, lent a pathos, for it was naught but a faded calico dress that hung from her attenuated frame like the raiment of a scarecrow. It may have been the shabby room or the mournful dirge of the nearby ocean that added an uncanny touch to her words and looks, but from the moment she arose until her utterance ceased Albert was spellbound. So peculiar and yet so pathetic was her prayer it shall be quoted in full:

"O Lord, I come to thee, knowing I'm as a worm that crawls on the earth; like the dust blown by the winds, the empty shell on the shore, or the leaves that fall on the ground. I come poor and humble, I come hungry and thirsty, like even the lowliest of the earth. I come at night at thy feet, believe me, I am a poor worm of the dust, will still have thy love and perfection. I'm old and weary of waiting. I'm humble and bereft of kin. I'm sad and alone to comfort me. I eat the crust of poverty, and drink the cup of humility. My protector in my staff have him taken from me, and yet for all these burdens thou in thy infinite wisdom have seen fit to lay on me I thank thee. Thou hast led my feet among thorns and stuns, and yet I thank thee. Thou hast led the cross of sorrow on my heart and the burden of many afflictions for me to bear, and yet I bless thee, yes, verily still my voice be lifted to glorify and praise thee day and night, for thou hast not promised me that all who are believers in thy word shall be saved. Hast thou not sent thy Son to die on the cross for my sake, poor and humble as I am? Alas, for this, for all thy infinite mercy and goodness to me, I praise thee, thank thee tonight, knowing that not a sparrow falls without thy knowing it, and that even the hairs of our heads are numbered.

"I thank thee, O Lord, for the sunshine every day, and the comfort of the birds and flowers every season. I thank thee that my eyes are still permitted to see thy beautiful world, and my ears to hear the songs of praise. I thank thee, too, that with my voice I can glorify and bless thee for all thy goodness, and for all thy mercy. And when the day of judgment comes and the dead rise up, then I know that I will keep thy promise, and that even in poor and humble, shall live again, like those that have gone before, to sit at thy feet and glorify thee for life everlasting. For this blessed hope, and for all thy other promises, I lift my voice in gratitude and thankfulness and praise to thee, my Heavenly Father, and to thy Son, my Redeemer, tonight and tomorrow and forever and ever. Amen."

To Albert, a student of Voltaire, of Rameau, of Paine, and an admirer of Emerson, a doubter of Scriptural authority and almost a materialist in belief, this weird and piteous utterance came with peculiar effect.

When the prayer meeting was concluded with an oddly spoken benediction by Deacon Oaks, and Albert and Terry were on their way back to the point, Albert asked:

"Who was the poor old lady that prayed so fervently? I never heard anything like it since I was a boy."

"Oh, that's the Widow Leach," Terry responded. "She always acts that way and feels so, too. I guess she is an object of pity here and very poor. She has no relation living that she knows of, lives alone in a small house and owns and works on the fish racks summers, and winters has to be helped. Her husband and two sons were lost at sea many years ago, and father says religion is all the consolation she has left."

"Does she always pray so fervently as she did tonight?"

"Oh, yes; that's her way. Father says she is a little cracked about such matters. He pities her, though, and helps her a good deal, and so does most every one else here who can. She needs it." Then, after a pause, she added, "Towd you enjoy the meeting, Mr. Page?"

"Well," replied Albert slowly and mentally contrasting it with many Sunday services when he had occupied a pew with the Nasons at their fashionable church in Boston, "it has been an experience I shall not soon forget. In one way it has been a pleasure, for it has taken me back to my young days. Then he added a little sadly, "It has also been a pain, for it recalled my mother and how she used to pray that I might grow to be a good man."

"You are not a bad man, are you?" responded Terry at once, looking curiously at him.

"Oh, no, I hope not," he answered, smiling. "I try to do as I would be done by, but the good people here might think I was, maybe, because I am not a professor of religion. For that reason I should be classed as one of the sinners I presume."

"Well, so is father, but that doesn't make him one. Deacon Oaks calls him a sinner, but I know he trusts him in all money matters, and I think father is the best and kindest man in the world. He has been so good and kind to me I would almost like to die for him if necessary."

"How do you feel about this matter of belief?" Albert asked after a pause.

"Are you what this old lady would call a believer, Mr. Terry?"

"Oh, no," she replied slowly. "I fear I am not. I always go to meeting Sundays when there is one—mother and I—and once in a while to the Thursday evening prayer meeting. I think it's because I enjoy the singing."

When they reached the point Albert could not restrain his desire to enjoy the society of this unaffected, simple and beautiful girl a little longer. The moon that Frank had planned to use as a high overhang, and away out over the still ocean stretched a beautiful path of silvery sheen, while at their feet, where the ground swells were breaking upon the rocks, every splash of foam looked like snow white wool.

"If it's not asking too much, Miss Terry," said Albert with utmost politeness, "would you walk out to the top of the cliff and sit down a few moments while I enjoy a cigar?" The night is too beautiful to turn away from at once.

Terry assented, and they took possession of the rustic seat where Albert had listened to her history the night before. What a flood of memories came to him as he watched her fair complexion, all unconscious of his scrutiny, and with them a sudden and keen interest to unravel the mystery of her parentage and the hope that some time he might do it. He also felt an unaccountable desire to tell her that he knew her pathetic story and to express his interest in it and his sympathy for her, but dared not. "It may hurt her to know I know it," he thought, "and I will wait till she knows me better."

Instead, he began telling her about himself and his own early life, his home, his loss of parents, his struggle to earn a living and how much success he had so far met.

When his recital and clear were both at an end and it was time to go, he said, "I may not have another chance to ask you, Miss Terry, before I leave here, but when I get back to Boston may I write to you, and will you answer my letters if I do?"

The question startled her a little, but she answered:

"I shall be pleased to hear from you, Mr. Page, and will do the best I can in replying, only do not expect too much."

When he had bidden her good night and was alone in his room the memory of Mrs. Leach and her pitiful prayer, coupled with Terry's pleading eyes and sweet face, banished all thoughts of sleep, and he watched the moonlight ocean while he smoked and meditated.

CHAPTER XXV.

HOW did you like the prayer meeting?" asked Uncle Terry the next morning as Albert stood watching him getting ready to start on his daily rounds.

"Did the Widow Leach make you feel you was a hopeless sinner?"

"It was an interesting experience," replied Albert, "and one I shall not soon forget."

"Oh, it don't do 'em no harm to git together and pray an' sing, an' most likely it diverts their minds from other troubles; but, in my way of thinkin', prayin' is a good deal like a feller tryin' to lift himself by his boot straps. It encourages him some, but he don't git much further." Then he added, "You haven't thought of no way to get me out of my scrape, hev you?"

"I have thought of a good deal about it," replied Albert, "and the best way it seems to me, is for you to go to Frye and tell him you can't afford to carry the case any further and offer to pay whatever fee he sees fit to ask. You can tell him you will give up the case entirely, and ask him to return the proofs you want. I may decide to have a detective with him, so that if he refuses you these things we can use the detective as a witness in a civil suit. Most likely he will demand quite a sum, but it is best to pay it if we can get the proofs. I will advance money enough to cover what he is likely to ask. What I want you to do is to wait until he sends for more money; then come to me at once."

Uncle Terry looked at Albert a moment and suddenly, grasping his hand, exclaimed, "I can't thank you 'nough for yer offer to help me, but I kin say how sorry I am I distrust you at first, and as long as I've a roof to cover my head yer sure to find a welcome under it an' the interestin' alibi out."

"I thank you for your kindly words, Mr. Terry," responded Albert, "and I am likely to avail myself of your invitation again before the summer is over. I expect my friends back today and must join them, but I assure you I would much prefer to stay here for the two weeks I have planned for my outing."

"Ye won't go till I see yer again, will ye?" asked Uncle Terry anxiously.

"No. If the Gypsy shows up today we will stay in the harbor tonight, and I should like to have you and Mrs. Terry visit her." Then as the old man pushed off and pulled out of the cove with long, slow strokes, Albert watched him with a new interest. "Poor old fellow," he thought, "he is lonelier than the day is long and has a heart of gold beneath his blunt speech. How hard he has to work for what he gets, and what a vile thing in Frye to rob him so!" When the old man was out of sight Albert started over to the village. On the enter side of the harbor and opposite where the houses were he came to some long rows of slat benches, and busy at work spreading split shavings upon them was the old lady who had thanked the Lord so fervently at the prayer meeting.

For an hour he strolled around the harbor watching the men at work on boats or fishing gear and sniffing the salt sea odor of the ocean breeze, and then returned to the point and began sketching the lighthouse. He was absorbed in that when he heard a sharp whistle, and looking up, there was the Gypsy just entering the harbor. He ran to the cove where he had left his boat, and by the time the yacht was anchored had pulled alongside. To his surprise no one was aboard but Frank.

"Where are the rest of the boys?" he asked, as the young man grasped his boat. Frank laughed. "Well, just about now they are playing tennis and calling 'fifteen love' and 'thirty love' with a lot of girls down at Bar Harbor. The fact is, Bert, you continued as Albert stepped aboard, 'your gaudier cruise has come to an end. They run into some girls they know, and after that all the Gypsy was good for was a place to eat and sleep in. I've run her up here and shall let you keep her with you until you get ready to go home. I'm going to cut sticks for the mountains, and if I can get one of the girls to go with me I may visit Sundaye."

Albert laughed heartily. "Want to hear some one sing 'Ten Bells' again?" he queried.

"Well, maybe," replied Frank. "The fact of the matter is, the whole trip shredness, coupled with a fatuous lot of speculation. A few lucky ventures at first in the stock market had fanned the flame.

Then along came a war cloud in Europe. Stocks began to drop and provisions to advance. September wheat was then selling in Chicago at 90 cents. Frye bought 50,000 bushels on a margin, and the price rose to 94. Frye sold, clearing $2,000. Then it dropped a cent, and Frye bought a hundred thousand bushels more. Once again the war cloud grew black, and wheat rose to 98. The papers were full of wild rumors, and the Wall Street Bugle said wheat would look cheap at a dollar and a half inside of a month. Then it advanced to $1, and Frye lost his head. His holdings showed a profit of $7,000, and sudden riches started him in the face. Once more the two hellions fought, but Frye rose another year, and Frye doubled his holdings. Then the powers that had provided similar fatality, and in one day wheat fell to 90 and was still falling. At every drop of a cent he was called upon for $2,000. Day by day it vibrated, now going up a cent and then dropping two, and when Uncle Terry and Albert were discussing how to checkmate his further robbing of the lighthouse keeper he was, with unnumbered curses, watching his all going against a villain to the tune of many thousand dollars per diem. He now lost his business, went without his meals and forgot to shave. He had mortgaged his real estate for $20,000, and that was nearly gone. Wheat was now down to 80, and France and Germany were shaking hands.

Frye could not sleep nights. His margins were almost exhausted and his resources as well. He had put up $40,000, and if wheat fell 3 cents more it would be all swept away. Then he executed a second mortgage at high interest and waited. It was the last shot in his locker, and all that stood between him and ruin, but wheat advanced 2 cents, and he began to hope. He had absolutely ignored business for two weeks, and now he went to work again. To collect the little due him and raise all the money he could was his sole thought. He wrote to Thigerson & Co. that he had at last found the heir they were in search of and described what proofs he held, at the same time stating that on receipt of his fee of a thousand dollars all and sufficient proofs of identity of the claimant would be forwarded. Then he wrote to Uncle Terry and demanded $300 more. September wheat had now fallen to 78.

FOOD FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

The more natural diet is more palatable, invigorating and strengthening to body and mind—right to the contrary with unnatural, improperly prepared food, which stunts the growth, dwarfs the mind, causes lack of will power and steadiness of nerve. No doubt that fifty per cent of the failures in life can be traced to improper diet when young.

has gone young from the start. You know what I wanted, but as it couldn't be, I did the next best thing and made up this party, and now the cruise has ended in a fizzle. By the way, where is the girl with the wonderful eyes you met here?"

"Just ask I imagine she's helping her mother in the house," answered Albert quietly, and then he added, "What, what is the probability, and where are you going with the Gypsy?"

"I want to be landed at the nearest port where I can board a railroad, and then you can do as you please with her. My ship or will do your bidding?"

"What about the rest of the boys?"

"With you can run to Bar Harbor and dine with the girls until the next day, and come back, and you can do as you please. The Gypsy is yours as long as you want her after I'm ashore. I think I'll run up to Bath and take the night train for the mountains if there is one. If not, we will be at Bath overnight."

"I must go ashore and leave word I am coming back," said Albert. "The fact is I've found a client in this Mr. Terry, and it's an important matter."

"So is the blue-eyed girl, I imagine," observed Frye with a droll smile. "When the terrible-looking fellow who the Gypsy had deserted her Albert returned to the Cape and remained there for a week. How many little trips he had made his new found friends to take on her during that time, how much gossip it created in the village and how many happy hours he and Terry passed together! The last day but one of his stay he invited everybody at the Cape, old or young, to go out on a short cruise, and nearly all accepted."

When the morning of his departure came, Uncle Terry said, "I hope you'll see you soon, Mr. Page, and you're sure of a welcome here, so don't forget us, and then he pulled away on his daily round to his traps."

Terry accompanied Albert to the cove where his boat was and bade him good-by. When the yacht rounded the point she was there waving an adieu and remained there until lost from sight.

CHAPTER XXVI.

THE one point of pride in Nicholas Frye's nature was his absolute belief in his own shrewdness. "They can't get the best of me," he would say to himself when he had won an unusually knotty case. He knew he was both bold and feared by his fellow members of the bar. Being hated he didn't mind, and being feared flattered his vanity to an intense degree.

Uncle Terry put himself in his power and, like a good natured old sheep, stood to be sheered. Frye only laughed at the client's stupidity and set out to continue the robbery as long as possible.

Messrs. Thigerson & Co. of St. Louis, who had first employed him to hunt up an heir to the estate of old Eric Peterson, whose son Nels and his young wife had been lost on the coast of Maine, fared no better. To them he only stated that he had found several promising clues and was following them as rapidly as possible, but it all cost money, and would they kindly send a draft on account for necessary expenses, etc. When Albert had taken away, his boat and the old scoundrel entered the robbery as long as possible.

he ever received. "Curse the fellow," he would say to himself. "I'll pay him and have revenge if I live long enough. No man ever got the best of me, and in the long run no man ever shall!"

But there is a Nemesis that follows evil doers in this world ready to strike with an invisible hand all who are lost to the sense of right and justice. In Frye's case the avenging goddess lurked in his inordinate belief in his own

Is Performing Wonders.

Thompson's Barosma, Kidney and Liver Cure

Is not only performing wonderful cures, as the following statements will prove, but all the cures have been permanent, there being no return of the disease or any of the symptoms after a lapse of many years.

E. K. Thompson & Son, Titusville, Pa.—Dear Sirs—Several years ago I was taken with kidney and bladder disease, and suffered with terrible pains, besides losing control of the action of my kidneys and bladder. A number of doctors had my case several times, but I received no benefit, and was given up as incurable and fully expected death would relieve my sufferings. A friend recommended BAROSMA and I began taking it. At first I could see little change, but after taking about six bottles, I began to get better. I continued to use it and today am entirely cured. I am a resident of this county and an well known in this section, and consider myself a walking advertisement for your TRULY WONDERFUL medicine, BAROSMA.

Yours respectfully, NATHAN BURDICK, West Hickory, Pa.

The first bottle did me so much good that I bought the second and it cured me of female weakness, with which I had been troubled more than two years. I gained strength and flesh and have been well ever since. This was six years ago.

PLAIN, FRANK TALK.

Which Cannot Fail to Do Much Good in Connellsville.

Residents of Connellsville who are victims of too prevalent kidney diseases owe something to the lady quoted herein, for the frankness with which she has opened to them their way to health.

Mrs. M. E. Jackson of No. 60 Sixth street, Uniontown, says: "As I told the people through our newspapers, several years ago Doan's Kidney Pills gave me prompt and complete relief from distressing bearing down pains through the loins which had troubled me for about a year. This affliction was brought on by a strain which seemed to have the effect of injuring the kidneys and for a long time it worked hard or caught cold it made the trouble worse. I used numerous remedies at different times, but almost some of them helped me for a time, the results were never satisfactory and permanent. When I used Doan's Kidney Pills they not only banished the pain from my back, but restored the kidneys to their normal condition and I was so gratified with these results that I was very glad to testify for the benefit of other sufferers. I have had no reason to change my opinion or to use any kidney medicine since that time, for the cure has been complete and lasting. I can, therefore, recommend Doan's Kidney Pills with a great deal of confidence."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
